

Richard Browne sworne & examined in open Court [the Liber A.
same] day Saith

That hee was witnes to the Agreem^t made the 19th of November [1649. And] that Thomas Warr tooke him this depon^t for his Paymaster [for 350^l of] Tob: and Caske being the consideracōn for the worke in the A[greem^t mentioned] and therevpon acknowledged the Receipt thereof in the said Agre[em^t And that] vppon the making of the said Agreem^t Thomas Warr finding fau[lt with M^r] Phillip Land for the time hee had formerly lost for want of T[imber desired] there might bee noe further delay therein Wherevpon the said [M^r Land] Replied hee should not stay any longer for the Timber And fur[ther saith] not.

The deposicōn of Paul Simpson aged 60. yeares or thereabouts
Withm Bretton this 24th of September 1650

This deponent saith that sometyme this last Somer comeing to Raphe Beanes House with one M^r Budd, comeing through the Plantacōn, this M^r Budd questioned with at worke in the said Beanes Plantacōn (being a weeding) and demanded what (hee was and the like, Afterwards they both comeing into the House, this man fo time after, and the Mayde giving him to eate, hee would eate nothing but a little and then goeing into the Loft, brought downe a Tray of Corne, and shelled it flower, and iesting with the Mayd hee told her that hee was Madd in his head after this Raph Beane called the Man bidding him to goe Mall some Timber in the woods. And about two houres after Raph Beane came in againe into the House, and toold this depon^t and M^r Budd that his Man was fallen very sick, desiring them to goe looke on him, saying that hee still sett the Wedges contrary wise in the Timber and [complained] much of his Head. Wherevpon comeing to the Man they found him gro[veling on the] Timber and ratling in the Throate, and not knoweing conveniently ho[w to carry him] off, they willed Raph Beane to fetch a Chayre, w^{ch} hee did, and p[utting him there the] man still remayned ratling in the throate and drabling at the Mou[th, And as they] were carrying him to the House, the said Man fetched a great groane, an[d dyed in the Chaire] further this depon^t saith being examined, that hee sawe noe blood abo[ut him or any] blowe or harme or any outward appearance occasioning his death, but [that hee verily] believeth that hee dyed of some imposthume or appoplexy
And further hee [deposeth not] Paul Simpson
Jurat coram me Willo Bretton

According to the direccōn of an Order of this Court of the eight of Janu[ary last, The] Jurors formerly empannelled