

Lib. R. R. R. called Gonoois, were persons with whom they had had great troubles, but thereby they did assure them of their firm renovation of peace, and future sincerity towards them.

2: They presented two Beaver skins as a seale or confirmation of peace with all other Indian nations of these parts.

3: They presented a Belt of Peake to cleare and remove all difficulties or obstacles, and to proclame or declare a firm peace betwixt them and these parts, and all the Indians thereof.

4: They presented two Beavers to testifie that peace was now Established betweene their Hono^{rs} for these parts, and themselves for their severall nations of Indians: And they did confidently beleive their Hono^{rs} would slight contemne or think amiss of them, but looke on them as friends, and not altogether as Indians rude and impolite in their discourse, but hoped they would excuse all friendly and with sincerity.

p. 217 5: They presented a necklace of Peake desireing that upon this Confirmation of peace, they might be noe more esteemed as Enemys, but friends and have the liberty and freedome as such to pass and repass the Countrey upon their occasions.

6: They presented two Beavers to signifie that there was in them noe rancour, noe malice nor venome, but their breasts were filled with comfort, and they had taken a medicine soe wholesome that it had purged them of all venome whatever.

7: They presented a Belt of Peake (necklace) signifyeing that whereas much blood had been spilt betweene them, and the Pascattoway Indians, with greate trouble labour and toile, they the s^d Pascattoway Indians might now remaine secured of peace, and raigne wthout molestation in their owne territories.

8: They presented a necklace of Peake thereby to renew confirme & Establish what they had said in reference to the Pascattoway Indians, and all other Indians in these parts.

9: They presented two Beavers to their Hono^{rs} for the Lord Prop^{ty} of this Province, and all Indians of these parts, as immediately from their greate nation called The Long knife to confirme a league or peace with the English, and all the Indians of these parts.

10: They presented a Belt of Peake to compleate all peace betweene them and all the Indian nations of these parts.

11: They presented two Beavers in Testimony, that whereas they had been kept upon the watch, formerly allarmed, and putt into many frights, they would give to understand, they were now at quiett, at rest, and peace of mind, and satisfied of the greate friendship betweene the English and them.

12: They presented a Belt of Peake in testimony that all Indians whatsoever of these parts might goe free about their occasions without trouble or molestation for the future, and that they signed a firm peace wth them all.
