THE committee appointed to inquire whether any and what alterations are necessary in superintending the revenue of the state, and whether, in their opinion, it is necessary to appoint an agent for the year one thousand eight hundred, beg leave to report the following as the result of their inquiries.

It appears, from the best examination the committee have been able to give the subject consistently with their other duties, that the installed debt, with principal and interest, amounts to the sum of £. 114,558 11 11; no certain calculation can be made on the receipt of any large portion of this sum in the course of the ensuing year, except what is due from the purchasers of confiscated property. The amount thus due, and the payment thereof secured by bond, is £. 10,296 1 0.
