

This Board supersedes the Board of Directors of the Maryland Industrial School for Girls, formerly the Female House of Refuge and is authorized to exercise all the powers and authority conferred upon that Board by Article 27 of the Code of Public General Laws.

This institution is for the care, reformation and instruction of such white girls, under the age of 18 years, as require the care of a public reformatory institution.

The Juvenile Court commits girls under 16 years of age and the Magistrates throughout the State and Baltimore City commits those between the ages of 16 and 18 years..

The General Assembly of 1922 passed an act changing the name of the institution from the Maryland Industrial Training School for Girls to the Montrose School for Girls.
