

residents of the Potomac River Conservancy District, who are appointed by the Governor for two-year terms (Code 1957, Art. 43, secs. 407, 408). The Commission has jurisdiction over the Potomac River Conservancy District, which was created by the enabling Act. The District embraces an area of approximately 14,500 square miles with an estimated population of 2,500,000. The Commission (1) coordinates, tabulates, and summarizes existing data on the character, pollution, and condition of streams in the Conservancy District; (2) supplements existing data, when necessary, by conducting investigations; (3) promotes adoption by the signatory bodies of uniform legislation for the control of stream pollution; (4) disseminates information to the public on the effects of stream pollution and the objectives of the Commission; (5) cooperates with other organizations in studies of treatment methods for sewage and industrial wastes; (6) recommends to signatory bodies standards for cleanliness of streams.

The Interstate Commission is now in process of amending the compact to enable it to function not only in water pollution control matters, but also in water resources conservation in the Basin. Maryland (Chapter 29, Acts of 1960), and West Virginia legislatures have adopted these amendments and Pennsylvania is expected to pass them in the current legislative session.

The Commission is financed by appropriations from each of the participating bodies.

The Southern Regional Education Board operates under the terms of the Southern Regional Education Compact of 1949, which the legislature of Maryland ratified by Chapter 282, Acts of 1949. Fifteen other states have also ratified the Compact. The purpose of the Compact is to develop graduate, professional, and technical education in the South without unnecessary duplication. The Southern Regional Education Board is active in approximately twenty-five academic fields. It administers the regional education contracts through which states lacking schools in certain fields are able to secure training for their students at institutions operated either by other states or by private corporations. The Board also studies needs and resources in various academic fields and joins with universities in Memoranda of Agreement to plan the development of specific programs on a regional basis. The University of Maryland carries on the administrative work of the Board in Maryland (Code 1957, Art. 41, secs. 185-88). The Maryland representatives on the Board are the Governor and four other persons appointed by him.
