Created by Chapter 717, Acts of 1980, the Judicial Compensation Commission studies and makes recommendations on all aspects of judicial compensation so as to ensure that judicial compensation is adequate to attract highly qualified persons to the bench and to enable judges to continue to serve there without unreasonable economic hardship.

The Commission reviews judicial salaries and pensions every two years, and at least every four years the Commission must submit its recommendations to the Governor and General Assembly. Salary recommendations made by the Commission are introduced as a joint resolution in each house of the General Assembly not later than the fifteenth day of the session after they have been received. While the General Assembly may not amend the joint resolution to increase the recommended salaries, it may amend to decrease those salaries. If it fails to adopt or amend the joint resolution within fifty days after its introduction, the salaries recommended by the Commission shall apply. Commission recommendations with respect to pensions are introduced by the presiding officers of the Senate and the House of Delegates in the form of legislation, and become effective only if passed by both houses.

The Commission consists of seven members appointed by the Governor for six-year terms. No more than three members may be individuals admitted to practice law in the State. In nominating and appointing members, special consideration is given to individuals who have a knowledge of compensation practices and financial matters. Two members are appointed from a list of at least five nominees submitted by the President of the Senate, two members are appointed from a list of at least five nominees submitted by the Speaker of the House of Delegates, one member is appointed from a list of at least three nominees submitted by the Maryland State Bar Association, Inc., and two members are appointed at large.
