The Maryland State School Health Council was created informally by the State Department of Health and the State Department of Education in the 1950s. Formally reorganized in 1966, the Council advises the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene and the State Department of Education on the school health program. The Council helps develop and maintain programs to provide a healthful school environment, health and safety instruction, and school health services. It also serves as a forum for the two State departments that it advises, their local counterparts, and other groups concerned with the health of school-age children.

The general body of the Council includes two representatives appointed by each of the twenty-four local health and education departments. The Executive Board consists of five elected members of the general body and representatives of State and local government health and education agencies, medical associations, and education organizations.
