Frostburg State University was founded in 1898 as Maryland Normal School No. 2 and first opened in 1902. The school was renamed Frostburg State Teachers' College in 1935 and Frostburg State College in 1963. On July 7, 1987, the College became Frostburg State University. The University became part of the University of Maryland System in 1988 (Chapter 246, Acts of 1988).

Accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools, Frostburg serves as a regional State university for Western Maryland. The University, with 5,398 students enrolled in 1993, offers comprehensive undergraduate and graduate programs of study.

In August 1988, the University opened a Center at Hagerstown offering upper-division coursework leading to the baccalaureate degree in accounting, business administration and sociology (criminal justice focus) and the master of science degree in management.

Serving the academic, economic and cultural needs of Western Maryland, the University in recent years has been a key participant in world class whitewater competitions, Cumberland Summer Theatre, and international academic conferences.
