49. In case the eldest male shall not be of age to make his election, it shall be lawful for the eldest female if of the age of twenty-one years, to elect to take the lands at the valuation of the commissioners, notwithstanding the existence of any male minor; and any husband may elect to take in right of his wife.

The election to take the whole estate and a settlement therefor vests the legal title in the party electing without a deed from the commissioners, and this is true although the election is made by the husband in the right of his wife. Stevens v. Richardson, 6 H. & J. 156.
