145. They shall have power to establish building lines in all the streets and highways in said town, or which shall hereafter be opened therefor, and to compel all persons erecting buildings in said town to conform thereto, under such penalties as they may prescribe by ordinance, but no buildings shall hereafter be erected for the purpose of a stable or privy or a place of confinement of any livestock within one hundred feet of any existing public street or highway in said town. Any person or persons violating this last section shall, on conviction, pay a fine of not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense and the cost of prosecution, and upon failure to pay said fine and costs, shall be committed to jail until the same shall be paid, or for the period of forty days, whichever shall first occur.

1920, ch. 590, sec. 29.

146. No person shall permit his horses, mules, hogs or cattle of any kind to run at large outside of his own enclosure within the limits of the said town; any person violating the foregoing provisions of this section by permitting any one of any species of any of said animals of either gender or of any age, to run at large outside of his enclosure within the limits aforesaid, belonging to him or within his custody or control, for himself or as trustee for others, or as parent or guardian of any infant shall be subject to a fine of one dollar and costs for each individual of any species of the animals named so permitted to run at large, for the first offense, and for the second offense to a fine of not less than one dollar or more than ten dollars and costs, to be recovered before a justice of the peace, with such process and formal proceedings, and for such appeal and prayer for jury trial and other rights as now prevail in this county in cases of misdemeanor not punishable in the penitentiary; provided, however, that in case the said fine shall not be paid after the same shall be imposed by the justice of the peace or the circuit court upon appeal, the same may be collected by the sheriff or constable or bailiff of said town by process similar to that by which judgments rendered by justices of the peace are collected, or if the sentence imposed shall be reaffirmed upon appeal to the circuit court are collected by the sheriff, and the sentence of the justice of the peace or the circuit court shall be considered as in the nature of a judgment for the purpose, with the further provision that any property levied upon in pursuance of this Act shall not be subject to any exemption from execution, and in case of a second offense and failure to pay such fine in addition to the above remedy the party committing the same by permitting the animals to run at large, as aforesaid, may be committed to the jail; but in no case shall the imprisonment be for more than five days in the county jail of Charles County; and provided further that instead of process in the nature of arrest, the justice of the peace shall issue the ordinary process of summons as in civil cases, to be followed by process of arrest, however, in case the party shall fail to appear after summons served upon him. No hogs shall be kept, penned or unpenned, for
