

ARTICLE XXXIV.

Debt—Public.

Notes—The act of 1862, c 143 provided means for the defence of the state of Maryland, by raising, by a loan, to be called the Maryland Defence Loan, an amount sufficient to pay the state's proportion of the United States' direct tax, levied or to be levied for the purpose of suppressing rebellion and maintaining the integrity of the union; and the treasurer of the state was authorized to issue stock to an amount not exceeding $2,500,000

The act of 1862, c. 276 appropriated the sum of $50,000, for the relief of the families of the Maryland volunteers, whether raised under the authority of the state, or the United States, who were then in the service of the United States, or who were thereafter mustered in such service, to be disbursed in the manner and by the persons designated in said act. The act of 1862, c 235, known as the treason act, provided that all fines, arising from its execution, should be appropriated as a portion of the fund for the relief of the families of the Maryland volunteers. And the act of 1864, c 384 continued in force the act of 1862, c. 276, until the expenditure of an additional sum of $50,000, appropriated by said act of 1864. The act of 1864, c 132 authorized the mayor and city council of Baltimore to raise and appropriate an amount of money not to exceed $300,000, in any one year, for the relief of the families of those who enlisted or were drafted into the military service of the United States as a part of the quota of the city of Baltimore.
