

corporate limits of the said town, and may be collected by judgment and execution, in the same manner, and with the same fees to the officers as provided for in the case of small debts, to be paid and applied to and for the benefit of the said town; and if the offence shall have been a breach of the peace, or disturbing the quiet and good order of the town by any riotous, immoral or obscene conduct, or violating any of the ordinances intended to secure the safety of the lives or property of any of the inhabitants of the town, the person so convicted may, in addition thereto, be committed to the Carroll county jail, or some appropriate place of confinement within the limits of the town, by the said burgess or justice until the fine and costs are paid, but not exceeding ten days for any one offence; and the person so committed may be discharged after forty-eight hours imprisonment, from the time of his commitment, upon satisfactory proof, under oath, before the said burgess or justice of the peace, that the said person so committed is wholly unable to pay the said fine and costs; and if the person so convicted as aforesaid shall be a minor, the same proceedings in every respect shall be had against the parent or guardian, or other person in whose custody or under whose control the said minor may be, or is or ought to be; and any party convicted under any of the preceding sections shall have the right to appeal to the next term of the circuit court for Carroll county, upon giving bond forthwith to prosecute said appeal, or bail for his appearance in person, at said term of the circuit court.

WESTMINSTER.

P. L. L., (1860,) art. 7, sec. 95.

214. The inhabitants of Westminster, in Carroll county, are a body corporate, by the name of "The Mayor and Common Council of Westminster," and by that name may sue and be sued, and may have and use a common seal.

Ibid. sec. 96.

215. The limits of the city of Westminster are as follows: beginning on the southeast at a stone planted near the Baltimore and Reisterstown turnpike, formerly a boundary stone between Baltimore and Frederick counties, and running northeasterly at a
