

that purpose two thousand dollars. To the education of the deaf and dumb, three thousand five hundred dollars. To the payment of pensions, five thousand four hundred and fifty-two dollars. To the library for its augmentation five hundred dollars. To the payment of commissions to attorneys, five thousand dollars. To the night watchman to the public buildings, three hundred and sixty dollars. To the person employed to take care of the public buildings two hundred and forty dollars. To the superintendent of the public buildings and grounds, one hundred dollars. To the Maryland Institute for the promotion of the mechanic arts, five hundred dollars. To the rent of house for fire engine, fifty dollars. To the expense of laboratory for State Agricultural chemist, four hundred and fifty dollars. To the purchase of implements for State Agricultural Chemist, fifty dollars. To the members of the Appeal tax court of Baltimore, one hundred and fifty dollars. To the Register of the city of Baltimore, three hundred dollars. To the commissioner of the Land Office for compensation per chapter twenty-three of eighteen hundred and forty-one, fifty dollars. To the cost of printing the Comptroller's annual report, five hundred dollars. To the expense of distributing bound copies of the laws, journals and documents and Maryland reports to the clerks and registers of wills of this State, and to the Governors of the several States, seventy-five dollars. To the executive for the contingent fund provided in the constitution to be placed at his disposal, six thousand dollars. To the contingent fund for the Library, including the expense of binding books, of lights, portorage and freights, of stationery, of menial service and assistance, of advertising and printing and of all other incidental expenses, thirteen hundred dollars. To special judges appointed in pursuance of twenty-second section of the fourth article of the Constitution, three thousand dollars. To the purchase of stationery for the Legislature, two thousand dollars. To the purchase of fuel and lights, sixteen hundred dollars. To the contingent expenses of the Treasury department, seven hundred dollars. To Samuel Sprigg for so much salary due him as one of the late board of State's agents, sixteen dollars and sixty-seven cents. To the payment of the interest on the public debt of this State, that is to say to the interest falling due quarterly on the currency debt of this State, seven thousand four hundred and sixty-six dollars and sixty-nine cents; and to the interest on the public debt falling due semi-annually and payable in London, including costs of exchange, remittance and commissions, two hundred and seventy-one thousand four