

I have no fear but that Maryland lawyers, with their rich traditions derived from active participation in the making and preservation of our Constitution, will rise to meet this challenge. As the Governor of your State, I can say for you, to the whole Country, that the Maryland Bar in this crisis will ever be true to its ancient teachings.