

Section 2 of this Bill provides "that if Senate Bill No. 98 becomes effective June 1, 1947, with the provisions of this Act, then this Act shall terminate on that date; otherwise to remain in full force and effect." One of the final amendments to Senate Bill 98 provided for an emergency clause, making the same effective from the date of its passage and the Bill has been approved.

This bill is now unnecessary because similar provisions are contained in Senate Bill 98.

For the above reasons the Bill will be vetoed.
