

mending the zeal and conduct of the principal clerks with whom I have been daily brought in immediate contact. To their experience and the assistance so cheerfully at all times rendered, is due much of the success the members now enjoy.

I trust, that the friendship for each other, which has marked our deliberations, as well as our social intercourse, will ever continue to exist, and that success and happiness will attend you all.

Upon the conclusion whereof,

The hour of 12 o'clock, midnight, having arrived, the Speaker declared the House of Delegates of Maryland adjourned sine die.

ATTEST :—MILTON Y. KIDD.

CHIEF CLERK.
