

1 Legislature at some appropriate deadline later would solve
2 that problem? It would still give the Legislature a right
3 to maintain the law as it had been passed, but it would 4 also open the door so it wouldn't require an act of the 5 Legislature to change the organization of some department.

6 GOVERNOR LANE: Well, what I was trying to say
7 was that I think that there should be some check, and it
8 would depend upon the importance of the change on the one
9 hand, and I did say I think that it would depend upon not 10 violating any existing law, because he would have to go 11 back to the Legislature to have that area corrected, or 12 any Act that the Legislature might pass thereafter where 13 they didn't agree with what he had done.

14 MR. MILLER: Well, of course, if the Legisla-
15 ture sets up a department, any change in it might be con-
16 trary to law, but if the Constitution provided that the 17 Governor in the interest of modernizing or bringing econ-
18 omies in as was attempted and a very great deal accomplished
19 by the Hoover Commission reports on the Federal basis, if 20 the Governor had the authority to submit a reorganization
21 plan and then it could be voted down by the Legislature,
