

³ Upon petition of various freeholders of Cecil County, the Lower House decided on June 6, 1749, that the election for delegates from Cecil County was not a free election, and was therefore null and void. A new election was called for, at which four different delegates were returned.

⁵ Wright, who was elected to replace Edward Tilghman, was disqualified from serving on June 1, 1750, because he continued to act as inspector of tobacco after his election.

⁷ The members of all Lower House standing committees appointed in the convention were reappointed to continue in the first, second, and third sessions, but the only names relisted in those sessions were the members on the Bills of Credit–Paper Currency Committee. It is presumed that Benjamin Mackall and Henry Wright Crabb, who were added to the Committee of Arms and Ammunition in the middle of the first session, were not included in the reappointment of members made in the second session, and that James Mills and Nicholas Hyland, who were added to this same committee in the middle of the second session, were not included in the reappointment made in the third. It is also assumed that Edward Sprigg and William Murdock, who were added to the Committee of Laws in the middle of the second session, were not included in the third session reappointment. The Upper House member on the Committee of Bills of Credit–Paper Currency was not named during the convention.
