

Unfortunately, we were not able to put into effect the binding program which we had thought possible. The lack of proper equipment and sufficient training for the special kind of binding required for record volumes were difficult to overcome. We hope that the coming fiscal year will be more fruitful. Only nine volumes and three brochures were bound. Among the miscellaneous tasks of this department were cleaning and flattening parchments, maps, and photographs for the Hall of Records; mending and strengthening printed books in our library; maintaining a scrap book for the Hall of Records and assisting in the preparation of exhibits.
