

ings; we have now made appreciable progress with the Inventories and Accounts. We had previously completed this project in some scattered counties of the State, but this year we gave special attention to the five Southern Maryland Counties. As a result, we were able to complete our present record program for this entire area.

Filming the land records is a tremendous undertaking—there are more than 11,000 volumes in Baltimore City alone!—nevertheless, we completed the work in Calvert County; we have almost finished in Caroline County; Anne Arundel has progressed to the present century, as has Baltimore County. Other counties have made beginnings. The members of the Hall of Records Commission will not find it difficult to imagine the great sense of security which the completion of this project will give the Archivist and his Staff.

Respectfully submitted,

MORRIS L. RADOFF

Archivist and Records Administrator