

MR. C. D. DAVIS

Carrington Lewis Davis was born August 27, 1879, in Green Spring Valley, Baltimore County, Maryland. After completing the course of the public school at his home he entered the Academy of Morgan College in October, 1894, from which department he graduated in June, 1897. He entered the Freshman class of the college department the following autumn and was graduated as Valedictorian of his class in June, 1901, at the same time winning the Charles W. Baldwin medal for excellence in English oratory. After spending one year as instructor at Morgan, Mr. Davis entered Harvard University in the fall of 1902 and was graduated in 1904. During his Senior year he was elected a member of the Harvard Classical Club, being the only colored man so elected up to this time.

W. EMMETT COLEMAN

This young man, who has been in charge of the North Carolina Mutual Insurance Co., in the State of Maryland, for the last three years, announces very substantial gains in the insurance world. Its phenomenal growth can be attributed to an unequalled agency force, and the whole-hearted co-operation of the business men of Maryland. After a thorough investigation of the affairs of management, Mr. Coleman states he "Believes that the economic future of the race is absolutely dependent upon the extent to which the present generation makes preparation for the succeeding one.

E. BERNARD TAYLOR

E. B. Taylor, a well-known Baltimore caterer, began his business career as clerk for the famous caterer, Bowen, while still a school boy. Notwithstanding the many reverses which come to every business man, he has mastered them manfully. He is a man of pleasing manner, sociable, businesslike and easy to approach. Mr. Taylor has always shown a deep interest in the welfare of all interests toward his race and still stands ready to co-operate with his fellowmen.

REV. G. F. BRAGG, D. D.

Rev. G. F. Bragg has been pastor of St. James Episcopal Church of Baltimore for the past thirty-two years. He possesses possibly more strong friends among influential white people of this community than any other colored clergyman. Wilburforce University conferred upon him in 1902 the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity. His wise counsel is always sought for in important issues concerning the race.
