

E. B. TAYLOR.

E. B. Taylor is one of Baltimore's busiest men, young or old. If there were nothing else to be said in favor of him, the fact that he is one of the greatest solvers of the negro problem, in that by his efforts he supplies labor for hundreds of our race each year, paying to them many tens of thousands of dollars in wages, would be a lasting monument to his fame. Unselfish to an infinite degree, he devotes hours despite his great and many interests, to charitable work, unostentatiously and without expecting, or in most cases receiving gratitude. He is fearless in expressing his opinions, and "we love him for the enemies he has made."
