

dical Haines' Mill, where the Road which passes the blacksmith shop now owned by John Smith, but formerly known as Haines' blacksmith shop, in that direction, now strikes said public Road, and running thence in a South-Easterly direction, to the Easterly end of the Lane, which passes the dwelling of David Cassell, and which terminates at the distance of little more than a quarter of a mile from said Cassell's house; occupying the identical tract which the Road now connecting those points occupies; thence in as direct a line as the Commissioners appointed to locate said Road, may deem most proper, to the lime-kiln owned by Jacob Grove, and located upon the farm which said Grove now occupies; thence, in like manner, to the Westerly end of the Lane, dividing in part the farms of Col. Gist and Basil D. Stevenson; thence upon the tract which said Lane now occupies, to the Easterly end thereof; thence to such point upon the great Road leading from Westminster to Washington, as the Commissioners as aforesaid, may deem most proper it should strike; which point shall be the termination of said road; and the said commissioners shall make out a plat of that part of the Road through Frederick county, and return the same to the Clerk of the county court, to be recorded among the records of said county; they shall likewise make out a plat of that part of the Road through Baltimore county, to be recorded among the records of said county; and the said Road, when so opened, shall be thereafter deemed to be a public Road forever; and shall be kept in repair in the same manner as other public Roads are directed to be kept up in said counties.

Plat and record.

Public highway.

Sec. 2. And be it enacted, That the expenses of surveying and opening the said Road shall be paid by Frederick and Baltimore counties, in proportion to the distance it may pass through each county; and the Levy Court of Frederick county, and the Commissioners of Baltimore county, are hereby authorized and required, on receiving from the Commissioners, an account, on oath, of the said expenses, including an allowance of two dollars per day, to the Commissioners, for their services, to levy the same in the proportion before stated, on the assessable property in said counties, to be collected as other county charges are now collected.

Expenses—how levied.

Compensation.

Sec. 3. And be it enacted, That the Commissioners, or a majority of them, shall value and ascertain the damages, that may be sustained by any person or persons, through whose land the said Road may be made to pass; taking into consideration the advantages and disadvantages, if any, and Damages assessed and assessed.
