

all the laws of the State, from the commencement of this government to the present time; and whereas, the said Webster does not ask or demand any remuneration for his labors in the performance of said duties, other than what the Legislature may hereafter allow him, after the full examination and expression of the satisfaction of the Legislature with the work, hereafter to be presented; and whereas, he only asks at this time one copy of Herty's Digest; two full copies of Dorsey's Laws; two full copies of the Laws of Maryland; and the laws as they are published from year to year, for the purpose of enabling him efficiently to execute the work aforesaid—
Therefore,

Resolved, That the State Librarian cause one copy of Herty's Digest; two full copies of Dorsey's Laws; and the laws as published from year to year, to be delivered to Charles W. Webster, of Carroll county, or to his order; provided, the said Charles W. Webster shall give to the Librarian, in the name of the State, a receipt for the return of the books aforesaid; provided further, that in the opinion of the Librarian, the said books can be conveniently spared from the Library.
