LIBER No. 12, folio 557.

“ Petition of John Richardson,

“ Sets forth that John Edmondson, about fifteen years past had a pretended right or interest in about 800 acres of land, reputed then to be in Talbot, but now known to be in Dorchester county, by colour of a survey, made by George Richardson, deceased : That Thomas Skillington having a similar right to 300 acres adjoining the former, these two by agreement relinquished or let fall their surveys, and had the lands resurveyed into one tract, which was patented to Edmondson, by the name of Richardson's Folly. The petitioner had lately taken up a parcel of land containing 982 acres, called Willingbrough, bounding upon the lines, on one side, of Richardson's Folly, as expressed in the patent of confirmation. Edmondson alledges about 150 acres, part of this land to be his right, as belonging to the survey of 300 acres, made as afore-
