Origins of the Maryland Energy Administration trace to 1973 when the Governor by Executive Order formed the Office of Energy Policy. Two years later, the Energy and Coastal Zone Administration was established within the Department of Natural Resources, first by the Secretary of Natural Resources in 1975, and then by statute in 1976 (Chapter 320, Acts of 1976). The Secretary of Natural Resources reorganized the Administration in 1979 and renamed it the Energy Administration. In 1982, the Administration was reformed as the Energy Office. The Office became part of the Department of Housing and Community Development in 1987 (Chapter 311, Acts of 1987). The Office was abolished in 1991 and its functions were transferred to the new Maryland Energy Administration (Chapter 468, Acts of 1991).

The Maryland Energy Administration implements the State Energy Conservation Plan, funded under the National Energy Policy and Conservation Act. For all energy-related matters coming under the purview of the Governor, the Administration is the central coordinating agency. The Administration also sponsors educational programs for users of energy in homes, commerce, industry, transportation, and government. It implements the federal Institutional Conservation Program, the federal Energy Extension Service, and certain oil overcharge projects.

During energy supply emergencies, the Administration is responsible for fuel allocations and contingency planning. It also advises State agencies on matters of fuel oil shortage (Code 1957, Art. 41, secs. 10-701 through 10-705).

MARYLAND COUNTIES ENERGY COUNCIL

(410) 974-5450

In response to the Governor's challenge to the counties to reduce energy consumption, the Maryland Counties Energy Council was formed in October 1990. The Council promotes energy conservation practices in county government in collaboration with the Maryland Energy Administration, the Maryland Association of Counties, public utilities, and other organizations responsible for energy resources. The energy coordinator for each county and Baltimore City is a voting member.
