

The result of this supervision ought to be that at the end of each fiscal year the reversions of appropriations to the State Treasury would be much larger than they have been in the past. Each dollar reverted means a dollar saved. The Comptroller, in conjunction with the Governor, who has authority to approve or disapprove requests of departments and institutions for amendments of appropriations, would be able to follow this plan very closely and secure very satisfactory results from it.

This office is more than anxious to co-operate in every way possible with all departments of the State which will aid them and ourselves in the most economical and efficient administration of the fiscal affairs.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM S. GORDY, JR.,

Comptroller.
