

ballots used may be such as were used at elections prior to the adoption of the "Australian System." The said judges of election shall certify to the County Commissioners the result of said election, and the three candidates receiving the greatest number of votes, they shall be declared elected, but said judges of election shall receive no compensation for their services.

The first election shall be before J. F. Coad, W. F. Chesley and W. Riggs MacGill, who are hereby appointed judges for that purpose.

•
1914, ch. 113, sec. 7.

21. Said Commissioners shall annually appoint a clerk, who may also be treasurer, and who shall keep the minutes of the proceedings in a well-bound book, which shall be open at any time to the inspection of any one interested. If said Commissioners shall appoint the clerk treasurer, the clerk shall give a bond in such sum as the Commissioners shall deem proper, and shall pay out the money that shall come into his hands only on the order of the Commissioners, which order shall plainly appear in the minutes.

1914, ch. 113, sec. 8.

22. The Commissioners shall annually appoint a bailiff and such under bailiffs as may be necessary.

1914, ch. 113, sec. 9.

23. The Commissioners shall allow their clerk and bailiff such compensation as they shall think proper.

1914, ch. 113, sec. 10.

24. The Commissioners and all other officers of the corporation, including judges of election, shall, before entering upon the duties of their respective offices, make oath that they will diligently and faithfully to the best of their ability, skill and judgment, perform their duties of office, and shall file a certificate of the same among the records of the corporation.

1914, ch. 113, sec. 11.

25. The clerk and bailiff shall give bond in such sum as may be deemed proper by the Commissioners for the faithful performance of their respective duties.

1914, ch. 113, sec. 12.

26. The Commissioners shall receive all returns of election and shall determine all questions arising thereon, but any person feeling aggrieved by such decision, may appeal therefrom to the Circuit Court for St. Mary's County, which Court shall hear and determine such appeal and who shall pay the cost thereof.

1914, ch. 113, sec. 13.

27. The Commissioners may pass such ordinances not inconsistent with the laws of the State, as they may deem beneficial to the town; may