

No. 8.

WHEREAS, It is befitting that the people of the United States provide their Chief Executive with a home in the country; and

WHEREAS, Such home should combine all advantages offered by land and water, and should be in close proximity to the National Capital, within easy and quick access by rail and automobile roads, at the same time possessing all retirement and seclusion desired; and

WHEREAS, On the shore of the Chesapeake Bay, near the United States Naval Academy, with its many attractions, there are many sites possessing all the requisites in soil, climate, accessibility and other attractions for such a home for the President; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the Congress of the United States be invited and requested to purchase a site on the western shore of the Chesapeake Bay and erect thereon a suitable home for the President; be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to Maryland's Representatives in Congress, and that they be instructed to do all within their power to secure favorable action by Congress on the object set forth in these resolutions.

No. 9.

Relating to concurrent legislation on the part of Maryland and Virginia in regard to the fishing industries of said States.

WHEREAS, The General Assembly of Maryland has received a communication from the General Assembly of Virginia regarding Maryland and Virginia's fishing interests, and intimating federal control unless concurrent legislation is agreed upon to safeguard and regulate the taking of fish in their joint and separate waters.

AND WHEREAS, The fishing interests in Maryland and Virginia are of great importance to the States affected, and believing that the warning issued by the Legislature is timely and that the suggested action is necessary; therefore,

Be it Resolved by the House of Delegates (the Senate concurring), That a joint committee to be composed of three on the part of the Senate and five on the part of the House of Delegates, be
