DISSERTATION
Upon Heads and Beards!
A. C. D. LAVIGNE,
Has the honor of informing the Ladies and Gentlemen of Baltimore that his Shop, No. 6, South Gay-street, continues open every day in the week for the regulation of heads and beards. The deep researches which he has made into this branch of natural philosophy exceed any thing hitherto known, and the principles of hair-dressing which he has discovered, baffles all the rules of physiognomy invented by Lavater; whilst the smoothness of chin which his patent razors never fail to communicate to the "human face divine," has been so pleasing to the ladies that they have made it an indispensable requisite in their lovers and beaux that they must be shaved at Lavigne's.
N. B. Separate rooms for the accommodation of Ladies and Gentlemen—and curls and ringlets calculated either for taking the hair by storm or regular siege.

FELL'S POINT
Commercial Advertiser.
THE Editors of this paper respectfully inform the public, that from a want of sufficient encouragement they are under the necessity of foregoing their design. To those who so generously came forward in their support they are sorry to be unable to make no other return than their gratitude. Not being in circumstances to warrant a commencement on hazard, they have thought it more prudent to give up the idea altogether, than, by farther delay, to excite the anxiety of their friends. The heavy expences attendant on a daily newspaper, and the little prospect they have (from the limited patronage received) of ever being able to account with their desire to the extent, they deem sufficient motives to justify their total relinquishment.
