TO THE Admirers of the Fine Arts.

JUST received from Amsterdam, and for sale at the Book and Stationary Store of COLE & BONNELL, 174, Market-street, a few copies of the following described Allegorical Picture in Memory of PIUS VI.

Gentlemen desirous of possessing a copy, should lose no time. The price being very low it is expected they will be speedily disposed of.

"A revered pontiff, a magnanimous sovereign—a noble and affecting spectacle to earth and heaven; he honored at once, by his transcendent virtues, misfortune, age, the throne and the altar."

This Picture, designed by J. Kuyper, painted by A. de Lelie, and engraved by L. Portman, represents the interior of a temple, in the midst of which is placed a sepulchre, on which is raised the bust of Pius VI. Behind the sepulchre appears Time; he is surrounded by the dark clouds of oblivion, in which he seems desirous of enveloping the bust. But the events which have signalled the epoch of Pius the Sixth's reign, and their influence on the destiny of that pontiff, are too remarkable; his virtues, and above all, his patience and resignation truly christian, form too great a contrast with the immortality of his age, to permit oblivion ever to be his lot. Under the figure of a woman transported with a holy zeal, Memora, who immortalizes great men, arrests the menacing arm of Time; whilst on one side of the bust, History, in an attitude of reflection, fixes upon this scene a penetrating eye, and consecrates in her annals the events of the reign of Pius VI. In the front of the picture is a female figure, absorbed in profound grief, and reclining on the emblematical signs of the pontifical dignity. On the opposite side is represented the church, under the emblem of two women, plunged in affliction. Near the bust, and before an altar, on which incense is burning, Religion, always calm, is busy in consoling and encouraging them.

Connoisseurs will easily perceive, that besides the beauties of the detail, and the expression suitable to each figure, this Picture has at the same time the merit of presenting all parts of the allegory in so perfect an agreement, that, without fatiguing the eye or the mind, it equally charms both the one and the other.
