

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Some News Collected at the National Capital by Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18th, 1902.—The report that the President expects to call a special session of the Senate early in November for the purpose of securing the ratification of a treaty which he has negotiated with Cuba is regarded by leading Democrats as another evidence of the autocratic attitude of the President. Roosevelt ever since his accession to the presidency has shown a disposition to regard his office as an importance not warranted by the Constitution and to eliminate Congress in every instance possible. Now he proposes to eliminate the House of Representatives from participation in legislation which is clearly its prerogative. The Constitution expressly states that in all revenue producing measures the House must take the initiative and a reciprocity treaty is only a revenue measure in a different form. However, the House refused to yield to the wishes of the Executive during the last session and now that the President believes he can control sufficient votes in the Senate to carry out his purpose, he proposes to ignore the House entirely. His belief is likely to receive a severe shock however, say certain prominent Democrats. It will be necessary for him to secure the support of several Democratic Senators to effect the ratification of the Cuban treaty and it is not likely that Democrats, regardless of their views in regard to the merits of the treaty itself can be persuaded to vote for its ratification when by so doing they would be justifying the express provisions of the Constitution. In the words of a prominent Democrat, who is in Washington, "The President has calculated about his host."

Representative Livingston, who stopped off in Washington on his way to Maine, where he will take the stump for the Democratic party, predicts that there will be a deficit in the country's finances for the fiscal year of $40,000,000. He says that the expenditures authorized by Congress at $1,049,000,000 and the same Congress repealed the war revenue tax bill. Therefore, he says, the expenditures will exceed the receipts by $40,000,000. This he believes will be hailed with joy by the bankers for it will mean a bond issue which will enable them to predicate an increased circulation without paying the high premiums which United States bonds are now commanding. He says that the administration will issue bonds and attempt to make the people believe that they are issued in order to meet a demand for government securities which arises as a result of the extreme prosperity of the country. It is not considered likely however, that the government will find it necessary to issue bonds for the special purpose of meeting a deficit. An issue of bonds is provided for by the Spooner resolution authorizing the construction of the Panama canal and already the officials are counting on that issue to help out the secretary in his efforts to meet the deficit. There is little doubt that Senator Spooner had been requested by the administration to provide for that bond issue of $100,000,000 for that very purpose.

There is reason to believe that the long anticipated "shake-up" in the treasury department is about to take place. It is claimed, by those in a position to know, that Assistant Secretary Spaulding will go out very soon and that his successor has been decided upon. Assistant Secretary Allies is also talked of as likely to be asked for his resignation. General Spaulding, it is said, will be "taken care of" in some other and less important position within the department. A new appraiser is to be appointed for the port of New York and rumor has it that the appointment will go to William D. Bynum, of Indiana. The minor clerks of the treasury department have received a severe "shaking up" of late by the inauguration of new methods by the secretary and they are bewailing the work of the department must be kept up to date, letters must be answered the same day that they are received, and work must be done in a businesslike manner and not on the old gossiping, get-it-done-when-it-convenient manner which has characterized the department in the past. The change is appalling to many of the ancient employees of the department who foresee doom for they have too long followed the old way to be capable of adapting themselves to the new, and their chiefs will be obliged to recommend them for dismissal because they cannot keep up with the pace set by the man from Iowa.

Senator Wellington, of Maryland, who was in Washington recently, stated that he strongly advocated a constitutional amendment which would extend the presidential term to six years and make it impossible for any man to serve a second term. He said that the President had more power than the Great Republic, by virtue of the patronage which is at his disposal, and that no man could be elected to the presidency and a resist the temptation to use that power to further his ambitions and secure his reelection. He stated that he regarded the whole trend of the republican party as towards imperialism and as a menace to the future of the republic. He believed there was a constant tendency on the part of the Executive to encroach on the legislative branch of the government and that some remedy which would effectually check such encroachment would be adopted. Summing up his remarks, the senator said: "The American people have not had the higher ideals of past generations any more settled down to gross materialism."

The building was a new one, having been erected in January last, and Mr. Smith was just entering upon his first season's work. The plant was run by a gasoline engine, and the fire, which had been caused by a defective valve near the boiler, spreading, the loss is estimated at $2,000, with no insurance.

Commander Howard is not jubilant over the prospect for the catch of oyster during the approaching season, notwithstanding the failure of the Lantana oyster bill before the legislature last winter. "Oysters will be somewhat scarce," he stated, "and the principal catch will come from the lower bay." When asked for a reason for the growing scarcity of the bivalve, Commander Howard admitted that it was principally because of a scarcity of shells and other suitable bottom for the young spat to lodge upon, and that planting seemed to be the remedy indicated.

A SPLENDID SUCCESS.

The Tournament, Wednesday the Most Successful Ever Held at "Sty Lord's Gift."

The tournament held at "Sty Lord's Gift" farm, near town on Wednesday was successful beyond all expectation in attendance, interest and finances. Never has a tournament at this farm been so largely attended, there being about 1100 persons present. Vehicles of all sorts went in the gate loaded to their utmost capacity. There were three straw rides in large peach wagons, one from Centreville, Wye Mills and Winchester. Several large hacks entered the gate, one, with four seats had eight teen occupants!

The day was an ideal one and the view from the summit of the lawn over the beautiful Chester and surrounding country was lovely. The tilting was very popular and one of a possible nine was the highest scored, made and there were six of them who tied on this. At two o'clock the knights assembled and were charged by Colonel W. Scott Roberts. There were eighteen knights entered and the final score is as follows:

- Howard Shortall, "My Maryland" 93-1-4
W. J. Conolly, "Silent Shade" 2-3-7
C. B. H. Jackson, "Horse" 2-3-7
P. H. Conolly, "Sunny-side" 2-3-7
Wm. Sautbury, "Fairies" 2-3-7
C. B. H. Jackson, "Horse" 2-3-7
S. V. Conolly, "Rocky Ridge" 1-3-6
R. H. Grimes, "Little Britain" 2-2-6
C. B. H. Jackson, "Horse" 2-2-6
Milton Elkin, "Longwood" 1-2-6
T. F. Shortall, "The Trip" 0-3-4
G. Conolly, "Willoughby" 2-2-7
Griffin Embert, "Queenstown" 1-2-4
E. B. Conolly, "Kingsdale" 2-2-7
Jas. B. Hays, "Sunny-side" 2-2-7
Jas. Delacy, "Glendola" 2-2-7
W. W. Slaughter, "Unknown" 1-2-4
W. B. Kinnaman, "Wye Mills" 2-2-7
The Knights Silent Shade, Sunny-side, Willoughby, Twentieth Century, Glendola and Wye Mills tied with seven rings each. The tie was next ridden off and each rings was used instead of the inch and a half rings which were used in the regular tilting. The result of the final riding was the honors went to the Knights of Sunny-side, Glendola, Silent Shade and Willoughby, respectively. Miss Catherine Gibbons, of "Hillside" was crowned Queen of Love and Beauty. Miss Blanche Callahan was crowned first maid of honor; Miss Emma Baynard was second maid of honor; Miss Mamie Skinner was third maid of honor. Captain Roberts also delivered the coronation address. The prizes won by the knights were $10, $5, $3 and $1 respectively. The judges were Wm. H. Delacy, P. H. Golt and J. Lock, Goldboro'.

After the tilting a game of baseball was played between the Queenstown club and a mixed team reporting to hail from Starr. The game, consisting of five innings, was interesting throughout and a w was marked by some sharp playing on both sides. The battery for Queenstown was Hunter and Thackeray, while Fesmyer and Phillips, of Centreville, did the honors for the Starr boys. Slat and Shaw were the umpires. The score was 1 to 5 in favor of the mixed team.

The yearling Happy Russell colt, a present to Rev. James C. Comiskey, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic Church, by the late Robert J. Willson, was won by Mr. Miller, of Baltimore. The colt, bred by Mrs. J. L. Rhodes, netted $100. The gate receipts were over $300. The net proceeds, it is thought, will be nearly $200.

As there were people from all parts of Talbot, Caroline and Kent counties as well as Queen Anne's and also from different cities, Father Comiskey takes this opportunity to extend to all his gratitude.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED. At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy.

Dr. Charles H. Uter, a prominent physician, of Panama, Colombia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me. I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within 8 hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by B. E. Coekey & Co.

To My Friends. It is with joy I tell you what Kodol did for me. I was troubled with my stomach for several months. I had been advised to use Kodol, I did so, and words cannot tell the good it has done me. A neighbor had dyspepsia so that he had tried many things. I told him to use Kodol. Words of gratitude have come to me from him because I recommended it.—Geo. W. Fry, Viola, Iowa. Health and strength of mind and body depend on the stomach, and normal activity of the digestive organs. Kodol, the great reconstructive tonic, cures all stomach and bowel troubles, indigestion, dyspepsia. Kodol digests any good food you eat. Take a dose after meals. J. S. THE OYSTER INDUSTRY.

Monday Week the Tongers will begin the Catching of the Luscious Bivalve.

September will soon be here and with it will come the signal for the 1,000 or more dredging vessels of the state, together with several thousand smaller but equally industrious and insatiable tonging craft, to make a raid upon the long-suffered bivalve, whose only crime is its toothsome-ness and appetizing flavor.

The oyster will be fat this year because there has been an abundance of rain. This means that an abundance of vegetable matter has been carried into the mouths of oysters. This is gratifying to those who like oysters. Far more gratifying to those engaged in the oyster industry is the prospect of high prices. Prices of oysters have been climbing higher and higher each year because of their scarcity and because of a great demand. The climbing is apt to continue, not only because of the causes which have operated in the past, but because Entroppe, beginning to demand oysters, beginning to demand oysters, counts, dukes, Sir Liptons and other wealthy foreigners are beginning to appreciate what a good thing the American oyster is and hence the demand.

European buyers are expected in America in a few weeks, and will largely increase their orders. 5,000 barrels were sent aboard weekly last season between October 1 and May 1. The buyers are coming early and making long months' contracts for a certain number of barrels a week. They are sent by fast steamers, in cold storage, and arrive on the other side in fine condition. In fact, oysters are delivered in Liverpool and other foreign ports in shape than in Chicago. Many oysters sent West are already opened and are shipped in wooden tubs, about 1,500 to each tub.

Oysters are not strangers on the tables of the rich Europeans. But there are oysters and oysters. The European oysters are one thing, the American oysters another. There is just as much difference between them as there is between many other things. The European oysters, rich American oysters, for instance, are rounded like foreigners have a decided liking, as well as they are beginning to have for fat American oysters. In the Netherlands they propagate oysters. The center of the industry is in the little town of Gooze.

The most important part of the work is done in April, just when the American oyster-man is getting ready to finish up his season. This primary work is the placing in position of the collectors, which are rounded tubs covered with mortar. On the rough surface the whole spat or ova of the oysters finds lodgment, and from 300 to 400 larvae will attach themselves to a single collector. The larvae are about one-hundredth of an eighth of an inch in length, and float on the water until caught by the collectors. The latter are gathered in boxes about 8 feet long by 2 feet wide, both ends being open, and the water is free circulation of the sea water.

The work of the tongers on the tributaries of the Chesapeake bay begins on September 1. The dredging season does not begin until October 1. The oysters are caught in large quantities. The oyster is one of the lowest forms of animal life; his organization is of the simplest kind; he has no power of locomotion and in fact, feels and hears very imperfectly. He is, in fact, as the saying is, "dead as he is said to live, but simply exists in a dormant sort of way at the bottom of the river. Robert Ingersoll once said that they were not given powers of locomotion so that they cannot run away from Eastern Shoremen.

Mild Winter Predicted. Here's a prediction that will fall on the ears of the man whose coal bin is still empty, like the choicest of the government weather department, that the great quantities of rain that have fallen in this country are due solely to the eruption of Mt. Pelee and other interior volcanic disturbances. He says that this summer season in this part of the world will be a mild winter in the fall. He also predicts a mild winter. His theory is that the volume of water which has fallen during May, June and July cannot be evaporated in the single month of August, and that the surplus water will be in the earth until the winter heat has for ever it.

A Cure for Cholera Infantum. "Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker, of Bookwater, Ohio, "an infant child of my neighbor's was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good, if used according to directions. In two days' time the child had fully recovered and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous, healthy girl. I have recommended this remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." Sold by B. E. Coekey & Co.

It Needs a Tonic. There are times when your liver needs a tonic. Don't give purgatives that grip and weaken. Dr. Williams' Little Early Risers expel all poison from the system and act as tonic to the liver. W. Scott, 531 Highland ave., Milton, Pa., says: "I have carried with me for several years a bottle of Dr. Williams' Little Early Risers with me for several years and would not be without them." Small and neat to take. Purely vegetable. They never grip or distress. J. S. Denny and Wye Mills drug store.

A Necessary Precaution. Don't neglect a cold. It is worse than you think it is. It is dangerous. You can cure it at once. Days of inflammation, clear the head, soothe and strengthen the mucous membrane. Cures coughs, croup, throat and lung troubles. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Children like it. J. S. Denny and Wye Mills drug store.

Peas for Good Pork. Certain alfalfa districts in Nebraska are sending hogs to the Chicago market that have never eaten corn. They have been grown and fattened by alfalfa, some of the lots being considered good enough to top the market. Clover is the natural food for hogs; they like it and it agrees with them. Clover fed hogs, finished on peas, make the best hogs in the world. It is this bacon, cured in Canadian packing houses, that is so much in demand and that commands such high prices in England. Our corn fed bacon has never met the fastidious requirements of the English epicure. The development of this new departure will be watched with considerable interest. Alfalfa yields so abundantly in semi arid sections that have heretofore produced very few hogs, and its area is extending at such a rate that this new addition to our pork supply will probably lead to important results, both in quantity and quality.

EXERCISE NECESSARY.

Persons who are Healthy Should not Mind the Exertion or Perspiration in Summer.

A great many people seem to be possessed of the erroneous idea that the summer time is one to be passed as idly as possible, with little or no physical exertion to make the pulse beat quicker or the perspiration come springing through the skin. They fear that over-exertion may lead to sunstroke or some similar malady or else they love their ease too well to submit to the discomfort of rapid motion when the temperature is high.

With the exception of persons afflicted with organic troubles likely to be heightened by the heat the idea that abundant exercise in hot weather is harmful or even dangerous, would seem to be entirely erroneous. More or less exercise, varying with the constitution and temperaments of the different persons taking it, is one of the greatest possible aids to health and stands next perhaps, to food and sleep in its beneficial effects upon the system. At no time does the latter stand more in need of something to tone it up and keep it vigorous than during the heated term. Why then should its most valuable ally be discarded when most needed?

What is true of exercise in general, is especially true of the exercise which takes one out of doors where the air and sunshine will do almost as much for him as he does for himself. Indeed, it is doubtful if the fresh air which is forced into one's lungs is not after all the greatest advantage to be derived from exercise and it can not be obtained from even more vigorous use of the body indoors.

We are very glad to see that our town is improving in this respect for the opportunities for exercise of some sort are much more numerous than in former years except, perhaps, when riding wheels was the fashion. We would like to see every man, woman and child in Queenstown have some outdoor diversion. They would be the better for it mentally, morally and physically.

Stamp it on One's Memory. A gentleman of this town saw a small advertisement in one of the magazines last winter, of an article for sale, and wrote to the advertiser for further information. He finally became the representative of the concern and has sold goods for them amounting to nearly $2,000. It was only an inch advertisement and has probably been the best thing of the kind that he has ever seen. The magazine probably never got the credit for the sales, but the gentleman would never have been a customer had it not been for the little advertisement. If your business is not worth an advertisement, it is a poor affair. If you want to do business nowadays, you must talk to the people through the papers. THE NEWS covers Queen Anne's county as no other paper does. Its rates are reasonable and this paper can help you build up your business. The man who reads your advertisement will not always tell you, but he remembers you are a live man and your name and business are indelibly stamped on his memory.

Look and read carefully our advertisement next week.
