

FOR CONGRESS.
HENRY R. TORBERT.
OF CEIL COUNTY.

Tuesday, the 5th of November.
The record has been made up. The questions involved in this political campaign have been discussed thoroughly, or partially, as the circumstances of the case, or the ability of the speakers and writers, determined. The time for argument has virtually ended, and the case is about to be decided to that great jury from whose verdict there is no appeal. The tribunal of public opinion, though not correct at all times in its determination of questions, yet its decision is final, until reversed by its own deliberate judgment and acts. On Tuesday next the question goes to that great jury, in whose hands rests the liberty and future prosperity of the nation. We, as Republicans, and believing in the God-appointed right of Government by the people—believe also that an appeal in behalf of universal suffrage, of equal and exact justice to all, and the right of every citizen to participate, through the ballot-box, in making and sustaining a Government, have been unanswerable and unmaneuverable. It now remains with the people to give their expression in favor of the liberal, just, and humane doctrines of the Republican party; or their voice in behalf of the blind prejudices and all uncharitableness of the Democratic party, whose scope of argument proves them skeptics and unbelievers in the infinite wisdom and infinite goodness of the Divine maker and ruler of the universe.

The last act in the great national work which grew out of the madness of the slave Democracy is, on the 8th of this month, to be completed. The blow aimed to perpetuate human bondage throughout the world, under the guiding hand of the last severed the chain which bound the slave in Christendom, and he rose up by the virtue of Republican institutions, to the position in this government which his Creator had assigned to him in the human family, a free and independent creature. At every step the so-called Democracy have opposed this great work which makes all men free and equal before the law. In this ignominious cause they have worked with an energy worthy of a better cause. Their efforts in this State and this country have been mainly directed to bring a prejudice against the colored people and denying their right to vote. But the question is narrowed down to this: Will they vote hereafter and forever? It is believed by the Democrats they will vote the Republican ticket this Fall almost solid, and they make this a plea for appealing to Republicans to leave their party and join the Democracy. But since the colored man must vote, and will vote Republican, will he vote wrong because he is colored? Will he vote wrong because the colored man determines to do as he pleases? Can we not think there are any such fools, although the Democratic speakers seem to think there are?

Let every voter in the Republican party go to the polls on Tuesday. Remember that one vote often elects a candidate. In Pennsylvania, at the recent election, 23 votes elected three Congressmen—one had a majority of 15, one 11, and the third 27. This shows the importance of every Republican going to the polls.

The Desperation of Despair.
The Copperhead oligarchy of this State are shaking in their shoes. The brave and triumphant canvass made by H. R. Torbert, Esq., on this shore the present Fall, and the enthusiasm which has greeted him everywhere has created the most profound sensation in the ranks of the office-holding Democrats, and they have labored with an incessant zeal to avert their impending fate. The office holders of this State have been taxed liberally to furnish funds to carry on the campaign, and about Elkton they have kept up a lively toasting with brass horns. The array of speakers has been somewhat formidable in numbers, and they have been specially nominated, what they call "Conservative,"—namely, ever that may mean, and have settled into a belief that the correct orthodoxy is Conservatism. Men who left the Republican party and joined the Democracy for a consideration constituting the bulk of their "Conservative" ally, as Swann terms the "Conservatives."

These Conservatives have been appealed to as men who were never besought before, to stand by the sinking Democracy. And with near a thousand colored voters registered in Cecil county and eleven thousand in this Congressional District, whom they feel morally certain will vote the Republican ticket solid, that party has cause for fear and trembling; and if the Republicans don't sweep this county and the whole shore, it is their own fault. All they have to do is to turn out at the election and see that every Republican who can vote is out.

The people of Maryland under their present oppressors have been plundered as never before. A new constitution was created by the people of this State when they attained power, with the direct purpose of providing offices for that long-lived crowd. Men who had risked all in the rebellion and become bankrupt, had to be provided for out of the Treasury and at a single session of the Legislature the Democratic party plundered the State of $1,000,000 to feed this famishing, bankrupt man who had escaped the wreck of the rebellion. The people are tired of this. They are taxed this day in Maryland under Democratic government as they never were taxed under Republican government when that party were compelled to raise large sums for war purposes.

The Abolition Press. The Art Journal of America, for November is rich in new wood cuts, and among them is Don's Don Quixote, one of the finest pictures ever produced by Dore. Making the Nevada-Gem, represents the inventor of that famous article, the Nicholas Von Dreys, among his workmen in his factory.

The publishers of the Press, meditate important improvements in the paper for the year 1871. The name of the transformed paper will be "The Adeline" which will be made to conform in size to the illustrated weeklies, and will contain sixteen pages.

While retaining all the features which commend it so highly to the public, others will be added, interesting to the rank, not only first as an art journal, but will occupy that place in the public domain which is now supplied by papers far its inferior in this respect.

The Christmas number of the Adeline Press will be printed in colors and will doubtless excel anything of the kind ever before published. It will be published by the New Adeline will receive with the January number a superb oil chromo "Diana's" which is represented as in every way equal to the chromo now for $2.00.

In the Fifth Congressional District, Judge Merrick, the Democratic candidate for Congress, rides from place to place in the same conveyance and goes to the same platform with the same words. Where is the "White Man's" party?

A Final Word.

The Republicans of this county, for several elections, have been very remiss in turning out to the polls. We trust this apathy will continue no longer. If you wish the triumph of the Principles of your party, you must support its candidates. If you desire to see the Administration of General Grant supported, you must vote for the Republican candidate for Congress. If you desire the rebel rule to terminate in this State, you must vote it down. You cannot do that by neglecting to go to the election. You have an unflinching candidate now in the field, who has never held one jot or tittle of office, and who has never been a member of the National Convention. He is a man of high character and high ability. He is a man of high character and high ability. He is a man of high character and high ability.

The Duck War.
The Duck War, at Havre de Grace, between the "Oyster Navy" and Havre de Grace gunners, is characteristic of the heroism of the "Navy." Notwithstanding the stringent law, passed by the last session, requiring the "Oyster Navy" to suppress the Havre de Grace gunners, the professional sportsmen of that town made their usual preparations for the season, and when the concerted day arrived, proceeded to anchor their sleek-boats out on the flats and lay out the ducks. On Monday last, if we are informed properly as to the day, the "Navy" made its appearance, and actually made an opening gentleman ashore. Report says when he threatened to fire on his pursuers, but the Captain of the pursuing force begged him not to shoot, that it was not his purpose to arrest him or capture his boat, that in short, they had come to terms, not to shoot in violation of the law. Captain Davidson, of the war-steamer, subsequently went ashore and made a speech to the Havre de Graceans, assuring them that the mission of the "Navy" was a friendly visit. The steamer then fell down the Bay and anchored opposite the mouth of the River. On Wednesday the duckers from Havre de Grace sailed out as usual and anchored on the flats, where they kept up the usual line on the ducks all day, killing some 2,000 or 3,000 of the birds. The "Navy" didn't make its appearance, and the Havre de Grace men say that they ran the valiant Captain and his flames-crew, with their vessels, off.

Another theory, that the "Navy" has orders from headquarters not to resort to harsh measures till after the election, as the ducks are threatened to slaughter the Democratic ticket in Harford if their business is interfered with, but the idea of November being past, the "Navy" will return to execute judgment, without fear, favor or affection. We will see.

Robert F. Lee.
Mr. Editor: I noticed in last Saturday's Whig that you had published a notice of the death of Robert F. Lee, styled the "True Marylander," and I was surprised to find by stating that in parity of life and private character, and in the estimation of his countrymen, he died as he lived, calmly and quietly in the Lord Jesus Christ. Gov. Walker, in his message to the Virginia Assembly, on the 10th of his life, said that he died as he lived, a noble example of the sublime teachings and principles of the Christian religion, of equal piety and private character, and in the estimation of his countrymen, he died as he lived, calmly and quietly in the Lord Jesus Christ.

FINING THE POLLS.—The Democrats of Cecil propose to build a fence at the polls and appropriate one side to the whites and the other to the colored men. This is one of the very latest devices of the expiring Democracy in the First District.

PHILADELPHIA CATTLE MARKET.—The cattle market in Philadelphia was very quiet on Monday morning and the prices were rather low. About 3,000 head arrived, and sold at 50c to 60c for Pennsylvania and western Texas; 25c to 30c for Pennsylvania and western Texas; 25c to 30c for Pennsylvania and western Texas.

War News.

The Prussians are still preparing to bombard Paris. The French people are strong in their determination to defend the city to the last extremity. Great numbers of men are enrolling themselves in the National Guard. In order to strengthen the defense of the fortifications. It was estimated that the numbers of fresh and salt meat would be sufficient to last for thirty days. The National Guard has been ordered to be ready to march at a moment's notice. The Prussians have been ordered to be ready to march at a moment's notice.
